THE RESOURCE MANAGEMENT
SOFTWARE COMPANY

lendlease

Industry:

Provides project management, design, and construction services, predominantly in the infrastructure, defence, mixed-use, commercial, and residential sectors.

Optimizing the utilization of skilled construction professionals in a complex multi-project environment

Lendlease are a leading international property and infrastructure group with operations in Australia, Asia, Europe and the Americas. They have the capability to deliver at every stage of a project - from Development and Investment Management, to Construction, Asset and Property Management.

The Challenge

There are 900 construction professionals in the UK operation

- To improve their utilization levels, Lendlease needed a more accurate and up to date picture of each person's assignments and periods of spare capacity.

- To see details of new resources as they are recruited, so they will be fully utilized from day 1.

- To actively monitor vacancies and recruitment profiles as construction projects progress through the various stages.

- Use a cloud based system but with easy log on as if it was an on premises system.

Solution

Innate Resource Management software is an easy to use web application for projects, resources and reporting,

- Innate keeps the data current, complete and credible so that, as requests for resource arrive, Lendlease can easily see who is available with the required skills and location.

- Integration with Lendlease's global HR system maintains up to date information on resource recruitment and changes. New hires are assigned to appropriate work as soon as they are available,

- Innate tracks each project from bid preparation, through the award of contract, to project completion. 'What if…' scenarios show the resource impact of winning a mixture of projects and help re-balance the workload to optimize skills utilization.

- Innate supports the cost model of each project throughout its lifecycle, from Bid to Delivery

- Innate provides a single sign on facility, so that it is directly accessible by users from other systems.
